

Professional Piano Teacher Email List

Vaticinate has developed an email list of more than 11,000 piano teachers who are affiliated with professional regional or local piano teaching associations. This list was developed in the course of researching piano teacher specific issues and trends such as number of students, methods in use, pricing for lessons, etc.

This list is now available for controlled use. Vaticinate will take your message – HTML or text form - perform any necessary formatting and email it to the list, or segments of our list, that you select. Emails that we send for you are tracked for opens and click-throughs. This helps you identify hot prospects for further contact.

All our outbound emails conform to ICANN content and identification specifications.
